Legacy. Their Futures. Unique Learning.

Imagine how students' dreams are rocket-fueled thanks to their first-hand in learning about agricultural, livestock, science, and space exploration - all in one unique environment.

You can keep the dream alive and help ensure the sustainability of this historic educational program.

The Longhorn Project, founded in 1996 by former JSC director George W. S. Abbey and located at the world-famous NASA Johnson Space Center, blends an award-winning registered Texas longhorn herd with a STEM educational field trip program for grades 3 – 12 and a show team comprised of selected high school students who exhibit longhorns, provided by Texas breeders, at livestock and longhorn shows throughout Texas and surrounding states. Since 2004, over 80,000 students have participated in the agricultural and STEM educational program.

The only place in the world where you can see a longhorn, shuttle carrier, shuttle, and other spacecraft in the same panoramic view.
